Roll With the Changes

1991-1992 was a year of changes at Piedmont College. Though some of these changes were considered negative, most students believed by the year's end that the changes had, overall, been positive. New president John Elger and Rev. Terry Bascom were two additions to Piedmont that truly made a difference. The construction of the new library added an air of excitement to the campus. Freshmen found college life an interesting change, while upperclassmen enjoyed life at Piedmont while working toward their diplomas.

By the end of the 1991-1992 school year, most Piedmont students had learned to roll with the changes and to accept the bad along with the good. They also realized that as time passes, these changes will better prepare them to roll into the outside world.

Student Center

The student center was always a popular hangout with Piedmont students. Aside from a large screen TV and VCR, there were many activities to engage in. Students could always be found playing cards and board games. Pool, ping pong, and air hockey were also popular activities. Patti Dixon and Jean Cappo, along with student center workers John Covington, Todd Gant, Teresa Wood, Jason Stephens, John Castleberry, Jennifer Milstead, Mark McCoy, and Delaine Irvin helped to keep the student center clean and orderly.

Pat Wheeler shoots pool.

Jason Stephans and Lisa Brown watch Jennifer Milstead beat Wyn Fuller in Monopoly.

Susan Austin plays a game of Solitaire.

Jean Cappel is a permanent fixture in the Student Center.

Dorm Life

There was always plenty of activity at Piedmont's dorms. Whether baking cookies or having an all-night study session, the girl's dorm was always busy. Late night pranks and water fights were always popular. Resident director Christina Garmon and assistants Danelle Bowers, Dackri Davis, Amber Bay, and Teresa Wood kept things from getting out of hand. At Purcell Hall, a game of baseball or basketball in the hall or lobby was always a fun activity. Director Lewis Lindsay and assistants Shannon Floyd, Raymond Kent, and Doug Register officiated.

Homecoming 1991

The Freshman representatives of the 1991-1992 Homecoming Court were: Stacy James, Marla Hinchliffe, Trent De-more, and Jermaine Zachery. The Sophomore representatives were: Kara Keel, Sabrina Allen, Chris Ludwig, and Heath Taubitz. The Junior representatives were: Susan Austin, Julie Denard, Trent Fricks, and Richard York. The Senior representatives were: Jennifer Martin, Sandi Bagley, Brian Turner, and Mike Edwards.

The four finalists were Jermaine Zachery, Chris Ludwig, Kara Keel, and Sandi Bagley. Chris Ludwig was crowned Homecoming King and Sandi Bagley was crowned Queen. Congratulations Sandi and Chris.

Homecoming Dance

The room was full of peach and baby blue balloons, the food was the highlight of the evening, and Rob Moore was giving everyone "red eye." What was this big event? It was the 1991-1992 Homecoming Dance! Was it worth all the helium used to blow up the balloons? If you were there you can decide for yourself.

Brian Turner sings?? to Melissa Walls.

Sabrina Allen and Daren King together.

Jamie Garrett and Delaine Irvin enjoy some of the refreshments.

Jason, Doug, Tammy, Pete, and Luddy get down at the dance.

Friends at Piedmont

Friends have always been an important part of life at Piedmont. Piedmont students quickly form close friendships that are long-lasting. Whenever you are down or bored, all you have to do is pick up the phone and call a friend. There is no doubt that students recognize the value of a true friend and work hard at making new friends all the time.

Holidays at Piedmont

Though most students were not together on holidays, many choosing to go home to their families, Piedmont always managed to celebrate one way or another. The girl's dorm sponsored a Halloween party, while a Christmas Dance was held at the Student Center. There was also a Valentine's Dance that everyone enjoyed. Even though Piedmont students were often glad to go home on holidays, they were always glad to come back to school again.

Jill Peeples and Jennifer Owens warm up by a Christmas fire.

Shannon Floyd and Carol Pence star in the horror flick "The Mummy That Ate the Hershey's Kiss."

Jennifer Milstead and Leann Bagwell decorate Christmas balls.

Susan Austin and Jeremy Marshall ring in the new year with a kiss.

April Anderson and Michael Garrett pause in mid-dance.

Doug Beard and Neal Gosdin are dressed in their best for the dance.

Ray Kelly celebrates the day with his valentine, Sandy Landrum.

Valentine's Dance

The Valentine's Dance was held in the student center. The room was decorated with red hearts, the lights were low, the atmosphere was very intimate, and Leann Bagwell looked like a million. Everyone knew that night was one to remember.

Working

There are a wide array of jobs available on Piedmont's campus. Many students worked in offices on campus, while others worked in the student center. Other jobs include library work, maintenance, nightwatchmen, and tutoring. Work study was a good way to earn some extra money without leaving campus.

Top right: Delaine Irvin and Jamie Garrett keep John Castleberry company while he works in the student center.

Above: Mario Miller packs books to move to the new library.

Keeping Fit

One only needs to say one thing when talking about keeping fit: Dr. Goodbody's. Of course there are other things to do at Piedmont like playing table tennis, playing pool, or walking, but nothing compares to the Doctor.

The Doctor had racquetball, aerobics, weight-lifting, exercise machines, a sauna, and a whirlpool. At Dr. Goodbody's you can work up a sweat and then relax in the warmth of the soothing whirlpool.

Top: Michael Jasperse and Scott Domonkos have fun playing ping pong.

Leah Henderson pumps up at Dr. Goodbody's.

Kim Carver, Bonnie Young, and Carole Pence are dressed to kill.

Top left: Jeremy Wright and his date dance the night away.

Spring Formal '92

The 1992 Spring Formal was held at the Cornelia Community House on April 4th. Before the dance started many students went to Gainesville to eat at such restaurants as Knickers, Peeches, and Poor Richards. The dance itself was full of beautiful people in beautiful clothes. The night was complete when everyone danced to Queen's "Bohemian Rhapsody."

David Haney, his date, John Bittner, and Susan Bachler enjoy some conversation between dances.

Special Friends and Special Times

Clockwise from left: Stephen Allen and Tammy Wheeler are an example of good friends that also make great dancing partners.

This special couple, with their deep and abiding affection for each other, touched the hearts of many Piedmont students.

Tatjana and Paul: You don't get much closer than these two!

Nina Cleveland and Robert Gardner are not only friends, they're engaged.

Todd Rock, Rene van Weenen, and Daren King: Your closest friends are the ones you can sing with.

Stacie and Dana show that roommates can also make the best friends.

Studying

It's a beautiful day outside. The sun is shining; the birds are singing. There isn't a cloud in the sky. Where can Piedmont students be found?? Studying, of course! Like the diligent students we are at Piedmont, we would never let a game of volleyball interfere with our homework.

Clockwise from above: Rod Wilson studies diligently.

Teresa Wood works hard at her accounting.

Tanya Senter and Shona Taylor work on reports.

Daina Dawdy "enjoys" doing homework in the library.

Kimm Bowers looks up information in the card catalogue.

Top Right: Jill Peebles, Patrick Young, Sabrina Allen, and Kara Keel stop to gossip between classes.

Between Classes

There are many things for students to do between classes. If you only had a quick break, conversing in the halls or lobby was popular. For those with a longer break, playing cards or pool in the student center, eating in the Snack Shack, taking a quick nap, or even studying outside was good ways to pass that time.

Campus Coffeehouse

The fourth bi-annual campus coffeehouse took place in the Cafeteria in February of this year. Winners were announced in three different categories: musical performance, lip-synch, and skits. The winner in the musical performance category was Chris Altman. In the lip-synch competition, Tammy, Pat, and Christy won. Daren King, Rene van Weenen, Ray Kelly, Tom Wyatt, and Scott Wiersen won for best skit. The consolation prize drawing was won by James Rider, Nikki Wooten, and Jennifer Owens. Judges for the event were Kathy Wies, Dennis Kelly, and Jean Cappel.

Hangin' Out

Tyler Lee shows his true self as he warms up by the fire.

Ted and Bob wait for some girls to go by.

Michael Jasperse, Danny Mahaffey, and Chris Huskins look too tired to move.

Top: "Get outta my face."

Above: "What am I doing here? I hate baseball."

Clockwise from top left: "No girlie-man would dare threaten a bury-man like me!"

"Honest, George. I only wanted to pet it and love it a little."

"Maybe if I spit it out in my napkin no one will notice."

"Give us those balloons or elise!"

Who needs polite conversation when there's food?"

Above: Either Ben has died and gone to heaven or something he ate made him very sick.

Right: "Little Bunny Fu-fu, Hopping through the forest ..."

Above: "All I'm doing is climbing stairs. What's to take a picture of? Get one of me playing baseball!"

Left: "All right, guys. It was funny at first. Now let us out!"

Right: "If I have to smile and be nice to one more customer, I am going to scream."

Below: "I have visitors! I have visitors!"

Right: "No, no. Don't tell me. I know your name. Just don't tell me."

Dedication

The staff of the 1991-1992 Yonahian would like to dedicate this book to Mrs. Patti Dixon. Patti has been an invaluable help to an inexperienced staff in getting this book started.

Patti has always gone out of her way to plan activities that all Piedmont students will enjoy. She can frequently be seen up on ladders decorating for dances; then, the next day, she will be moving furniture and cleaning up. Her time and effort in planning activities are more than appreciated. We would like to show our gratitude by dedicating this edition of the Yonahian to Patti.

Lions Basketball

The 1991-92 men's basketball team had a rough season to begin with this year but they came out on top of things. The Lions were also able to go to conference this yer and they played some aggressive basketball. The Lions finished the season ranking fifth in the NAIA District 24, Division II with a 11-21 overall record and a 7-8 conference record. The team had several new players who added a great deal to the team. The entire team pulled together and won a tremendous victory. The Lions beat their record last year and continue to improve. Coach Maxie Skinner was happy with the overall performance of the team. "This has been a real good year for the men's basketball team. We started winning when we hit the conference schedule and we wound up 7-8 in the conference, placing fifth." So Piedmont fans come support the Piedmont College Lions next year in another exciting season. Congratulations to the Lions and thanks to all their supporters.

Lady Lions

The Piedmont Lady Lions had a changing and successful year. Coach Beth Ralph took over the Lady Lions in August. This was a new and learning experience for both coach and team. The team and the coach's hard work and determination to win paid off. The Lady Lions made it to the conference games which they barely missed last year. The Lady Lions finished the season by ranking 7th in the NAIA District 24 Div. II, with a 15-13 overall record. This topped their record last year. Coach Ralph said she was pleased with the overall performance of the team. "We came a long way in a short while." Coach Ralph also has some hopes and goals for next year. "Next year should be Piedmont's year as far as women's basketball." Another year has come to a close and the Lady Lions continue to get better and better. Congratulations to the Lady Lions and all their supporters.

Baseball

The 1991-92 baseball team finished their season with a 29-30 overall record. This made the season the second most winning season in Piedmont's history. The team was coached by Steve Harwood. Chet Kendall was named Player of the Year. Jonny Jarrett was given an award for Lowest Earned Run Average. Mike McCall was Most Improved Player; best Defensive Player went to Ricky Woodruff. The Coach's award went to Chris Altman.

Softball

The 1992 softball team had an outstanding season, ending the year with a 32-2 record. The team was coached by Beth Ralph. Assistant coach was John Krippner. Leah Henderson was team captain. She was also chosen Most Valuable Player, Most Inspirational, and Player of the Year in conference. The softball team and all their fans are to be congratulated for an excellent season.

Sponsor Betty Rogers has a conference with the squad.

At the request of the student body, a cheerleading squad was formed for this year's Basketball season. The squad was sponsored by Mrs. Betty Rogers and consisted of six members. New uniforms, shoes, megaphones, and pom-poms were purchased to help boost the success of the program. The squad cheered at a majority of the home men's games and women's games. On Homecoming the squad painted spirit signs and handed out spirit shakers. This proved to be quite a success. Toward the end of the season the squad's size began to shrink even more due to illnesses, injuries, and graduating members. This season was considered a success and we hope that each year the squad will grow to be better and bigger.

1992 Sports Banquet

The 1991-92 All Sports Banquet was held in May at the Runway Fish House in Cornelia. Students and coaches in such events as baseball, softball, golf, tennis, cheerleading, men's basketball, and women's basketball were honored. Awards were presented to many athletes for outstanding accomplishments in their sport.

Seniors Trent Fricks and Brian Turner presented their top ten list of Coach Maxie Skinner's favorite sayings.

Honors Day '92

Honors Day was on April 15, 1992. Several students were recognized for receiving the named scholarships Camp Younts Scholarships, Trustee Scholarships, Presidential Scholarship and Flint Scholarship. The H.M. Stewart Award of excellence was awarded to Matt Benson. The Coca Cola Minority Achievement Award was given to Lynette Finch. The Vulcan Teaching Excellence and Campus Leadership Award was given to Dr. Curtis Bradford, who donated the money from the award to Piedmont's scholarship fund. Honor graduates, new members of Alpha Chi, and the Torch Club were announced as were those selected for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Departmental honors were awarded in the areas of Art, Chemistry, Computers, Economics, Education, English, French, Mathematics, Music, Psychology, Sociology, Spanish, and Speech and Theatre. Todd Gant and Buddy Shafer were recognized for their service to the Piedmont Community. Also, SGA officers and representatives and resident assistants were recognized.

Roll With the Changes

The 1991-92 school year at Piedmont has been full of changes. Interim President John Elger agreed to accept the position on a permanent basis. Rev. Terry; Bascom replaced Stephen Nickle as campus minister. Dr. Ellen Briggs became the new athletic director. Beth Ralph was hired as coach for women's basketball and softball.

Around campus, the construction of the new library added an air of excitement to the area. Also, the new athletic field proved a much-needed improvement. Both a volleyball court and a soccer field were added.

Students also found life after hours at Piedmont to be more exciting. Visitation hours were extended. A program was implemented in which students could get a very inexpensive membership to Dr. Goodbody's health spa. Most importantly, Piedmont students learned to roll with the changes taking place — and even to help them along.

Rolling On . . .

As another year ends at Piedmont, there is happiness and sadness. We say good-bye to graduating seniors with sadness, yet we look forward to the summer and to welcoming the incoming freshmen next year. As we roll on through another year, we realize that a greater challenge awaits us — next year!
